Dear Families and Friends of our Mullen Home Residents,

We hope that you've had a good week as we formally wrap up the Christmas season with the feast of the Baptism of the Lord.

We've had lots of good news this past week in that our COVID vaccination clinic went very well. There were balloons up at the entrance to the vaccination area, and there was such a spirit of joy and excitement throughout the house all day! All the Residents, staff, and Little Sisters did fine with their injections, and we look forward to getting our second dose of the vaccine on January 26th.

Also, we had four consecutive batches of Coronavirus test reports (all of our Residents, staff, and Little Sisters) that were negative, which was very encouraging — although we have now had one positive employee result in a subsequent round of tests. That employee is home on quarantine.

We are in the process of making plans to increase our compassionate care visiting possibilities for Residents in need, and to offer window visits to those brave families who request them and who don't mind the cold! 😊

So that's it for this week. May you feel the warmth of the love that Our Newborn King has for each of you!

Sincerely,
Mother Mercy
